Of all kinds of brick and stone work.

Prices on application.

CONTRACTORS & BUILDERS

HANCOCK MICH.

FOR SALE!

THE MICHIGAN HOUSE,

Corner of Oak and Sixth Streets, Red Jacket. Lot 23 and 24, block 13, Calumet, known as he George's property on Lake Linden road Lote 1 and 2, block 9, Tamarack City.

Also improved and unimproved Farm Lands for sale and to lease. A large lot of Timbered Lands, in this and adjoining county, for sale. Abstracts of Title furnished. Taxes paid for non-residents.

CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED. J. A. SHERMAN.

Room 3, Strobel Bld., Houghton. Mich

Mothers

Like to see their boys clothed in the latest and neatest styles.

Fathers

Like to see their boys becomingly clothed at the lowest possible

Both

Of these extremes meet in the most perfect manner in the Boys' Department of Richardson's Clothing store, near the Post-office Hancock.

B. R. TIME-TABLES.

Passenger Trains on M. R. R. R.

m pm Lv	cket 8.30 2.40 10.10
7.45 12.15 5.00 Rend Ja	tum8.24 2.34 10.04
57 12.27 5.12 Osce 5.36 1.05 5.50 Hano	ock7.40 1.50 9.30
8.40 1.10 5.56 Hough	ton 7.30 1.40 0.00 am pm om Ar	Lypmpmam
*Dally *Daily except	Bunday.

Passenger Trains on H. & C. R. R.

am nm nm Lv Ar	pm	2.30	A m
a m p m p m Lv Lake Lineen
7.47 12 17 5.02 Linwood	.6.18	8.25	9.00
7.50 12 2) 5.05 B L Linden Mills	8.10	9 90	9 45
4 100 Am. and 0 . Aut		2 11
s of the he as a Hollar Bay		2.08
8.35 12 55 5.40 Hancock	.7.40	1.50	9.15
W 40 1 to 8 55 Houghton		1.40
ampmom Ar Lv	p m	p m	M III

*Daily. *Daily except Sunday.

Time Table:

In effect April 27, 1896. TRAINS LEAVE HOUGHTON

TRAINS ARRIVE HOUGHTON

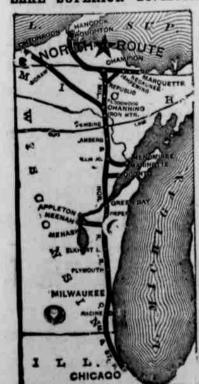

From Marquette, Chicago and the Gogebre Range... From Detroit and the east... Daily. †Daily except Sunday.

For tickets, time tables and other information apply to J. H. FORD, Ticket Agt.

Map of & Mt. Paul Hallroad.

LAKE SUPERIOR DIVISIO

SOLID TRAINS FAST TIME PULLMAN BUFFET SLEEPING CARS.

All coupon agents on the Northern Pen iala sell tickets via the Milwaukee & Northern R. R. Commercial Agt. Republic, Mich GRORGE H. HEAFFORD,

Portage Lake News

Some of the Rules to Govern the Field Day Sports.

Negaunce's Sprinters Are Claimed Be the Fastest in the Iron

The following are the instructions of the American Athletic Union and will govern all decisions of the referee at the Hancock Y. M. C. A. field day next Sot-

Amateur athletic sport is to prove the superiority of an individual or individunls in their respective classes of athletics in a friendly a saper and in so doing if every competitor will enter into the same in a gentlemanly manner he will conform to all general rules of the A. A. W., which rules are only made to insure clean sports. Let an athlete be a gentleman in the true sense of the word and he need not bother himself in regard to rules as an athlete doing what he knows is right in the gymnasium, track or field and be a gentleman will have no trouble

A. A. W. Novice-Definition-

Amateur sports are divided into twenty-five classes and a man can be a champion and record breaker in any class and still be a novice in 'any other class. An athlete shall be held to be a novice in each of these classes until be shall have won a prize in a competition of that class open to the members of two or more clubs or associations.

In addition to the rules of the A. A. W. on hurdle racing the following will govern the games next Saturday.

If any hurdle is knocked over by the winner or the first at the stape does not jump over every hurdle the race will be un over again.

INCYCLE RACING. 1. No one shall be allowed to coach competitors on the track.

2. Riders shall pass on the outside un less the man passed be dismounted, and must be at least a clear length of the cycle in front before taking the inside. Inside man must allow room for his competitor to pass on the outside. A competitor overtaking another may pass be tween him and the pole if there be ample room, but does so at his own risk [and should a foul be claimed, the referee must decide if the rider was justified in his course. Riders are cautioned that they must not pass inside except as a last re-

At the Y. M. C. A. field day on Decoration day, the Portage Lake Y. M. C. A. will be represented by the six leading runners of the county. The team is composed of and will run as follows: 1, Murphy: 2, Gilbes; 3, Jachnig; 4, Sanders; 5, Harris, and 6, James.

James Murphy is the fastest half-miler in the State of Michigan, and can hold his own for that distance with any runner in the west.

old war horse," was the champion sprint er of the Upper Peninsula for the past ten years, and is claimed by many to be the fastest quarter-miler in the State of Michigan at the present time.

Walter B. Jachnig holds the mile record of the Portage Lake Y. M. C. A.

Walter J. Sanders was, until his removal to Hancock, the pride of Calomet and was selected from a field of sprinters as the man best qualified to represent them at the last inter-association field Ronald Harris, of the Michigan Mining School, is one of the crack amateur rur ners of Canada, and has defeated many of her swiftest men. His specialties at the hurdles and the 440-yard dash.

Last, but not least, comes Frank James, that dark little whirlwind, whose marvelous performances on the track made him the hero of Hancock.

The Negaunee team will contest the elay race with these well-known sprinters. They have the reputation of being the fastest team in the iron country. With two such teams, each being com posed of crack runners, it is very likely that this event will be one of the very prominent features of the day, and a close and exciting fluish may be looked for.

The above, written by a Y. M. C. A man, is not exaggerated, as is proven by the repeated performances of the mer mentioned. The field day promises to b the most interesting for years.

Thequestion of how to take care of the neane population of the State has again become a serious one, and the authorities are again becoming concerned about it. At the time the Upper Peninsula hospital for the insane was established there was strong pressure brought to bear on the legislature to make appropriation for another in the lower part of the State, but the members of that body thought that one additional asylum was enough, and really preferred a future legislature to make the necessary appropriation. When the Newberry asylum was opened there was a shifting about of patients among the three institutions in the lower part of the State, and for a time the crowding of patients was relieved; but now matters are worse than ever at Kalamazoo and Pontiac, and Traverse City is the only one not positively overcrowded. At Kalamazoo, with a normal capacity for 1,000 patients, there are at present nearly 1,200. The sanitary conlition of the asylum is naturally affected by this crowding and the curative treat-nent retarded. Probate judges are asked to limit, as far as possible, the sending of patients whose malady is liable to make them dangerous, and it is suggested that very old persons and mild cases be cared for at home by friends. Such cases, as well as epileptics, only occupy space that ought to be utilized in the treatment of neute cases.

The following entries have been made for the Y. M. C. A. field day, which takes place at the Hancock driving park on Saturday afternoon, May-30: Thomas M. Harris, the one-quarter, one-half and five mile bicycle races; Joe Fitzpatrick, the same four races; George Bennallack, the 100-yard dash, 120-yard burdle race Some Fast Men to Enter, running high and broad lumps, hop-stepand jump; Thomas Goldsworthy, the pole vault, 440-yard dash, one-half mile run, running hop-step-and-jump; Kiah Goldsworthy, pole vault; Henry McCormack, running high jump; Walter B. Jachnig, 440-yard dash, one-half mile and one-mile run. Entries are expected from the Negaunee men today. The track will be in excellent condition for bicycling, and running entries close tomorrow at 10 p. m. Telephone to the Y. M. C. A. building

The committee of the Hancock conneil appointed to make investigation as to the workings of electric light plants in other towns, whether owned by corpora tions or the towns themselves, and to obtain from as many as possible the rate of cost of lighting, is ready to report at the next meeting of the council June 3. They have communicated with some eighty towns on the above subject. Councilman A. J. Scott, who is pushing the matter of having the village erect an electric light in conforming to the general rules of the plant of its own, will probably ask the council at that meeting to appoint a day on which a vote of the residents of Hancock on the subject may be taken.

the events you wish to enter.

In an item concerning the move of the riends of Tim Driscoll to obtain his pardon from the governor, the News confounded his case with the Sullivan-Murphy case of last fall. Driscoll is confined for a minor offense, and as there are extenuating circumstances and the jury in the case are said to be willing to sign a petition for his release, his friends have hopes of the ultimate success of their

The Michigan fish commission car left 50,000 trout at Houghton yesterday afternoon. They were taken to stream last night and this morning. A portion went to Calumet and were planted in streams in Keweenaw county.

The property on Tezcuco street, known as the Opitz homestead, will be sold under mortgage foreclosure May 28. The amount of the mortgage is but $600 while the property is worth from $3,500 to $4,000.

The famous whaleback, Christopher Columbus, which ran from Chicago to the World's Fair grounds in 1893, will be in Portage Lake June 14, and will take an excursion party from here up

The Hibernian State Convention wil be held at Escanaba June 16. Each division is entitled to send two delegates and each county president is entitled to go ex officio road near the Dover. Owner can have it by calling at Richardson's store. Han-

Boat passages: Up-Zuella Worthing ton with consort D. R. Martin, tug Avery with J. B. Noyes. Down-Toledo with John Hannaford and Donaldson with lumber.

The case of Rock Paquette vs Joseph Ethier and Etienne Lanctot, in chancery, as been started in the circuit court. Ed Ryan, Jr., arrived home from Denver vesterday afternoon. He wasaccompaqed by his sister, Miss Agnes.

The Luminous Sea Crab.

One of the marine curiosities recently ished from the bottom of the Indian ocean by a dredging vessel in the em-ploy of the Calcutta Society of Natural History was a mammoth sea crab which continually emitted a bright white light similar to that seen in the spasmodic flashes of phosphorescent luminosity kindled by our common fireflies. The oddity was captured in daytime and placed in a large tank, nothing peculiar except its immense size being not in the broad glare of the tropical sun. At night, however, when all was in pitchy darkness, the crab surprised the naturalists by lighting up the tank so that all the other sea creatures, great and small, occupying the same tank could be plainly seen. When the luminous crusacean was prodded with a pole, he emited flashes of lights which enabled the experimenters to read small print, even though otherwise they were in total darkness. --St. Louis Republic.

Out of the Public.

When I was a very little boy, writes Sir William Gregory in his autobiog raphy, my grandfather, who was then under secretary for Ireland, took me to the chief secretary's room in Dublin eastle and formally introduced me to Lord Melbourne.

After I had been with him for some little time he said, "Now, my boy, is there anything here you would like?" "Yes," I answered, pointing to i very large stick of sealing wax.

"That's right," said Lord Melbourne, pressing on me a bundle of pens, "begin life early. All these things belong to the public, and your business must al-ways be to get out of the public as much as you can."—Pearson's Weekly

Speaking of libraries reminds me of a story I heard of a certain rich man who did build himself a new mansion, and wishing to set up a bookroom there he simply went to a real library, put down the names of the volumes and had them painted on boards that assimilated a library. "Oh, it doesn't matter," he said.

"You see, folks will never read 'em, an they look just as well." The man who told me this story pointed to a couple of meaningless married folks. "They are just like Mr. —'s li-brary," he said. And they were.—New York Recorder. SWEET MYSTERIES.

Rowly the seeds in the garden are growing— Glad hemilies? fides, set in motion by winds briskly blowing.

Pages ere they rise.

The nestling shall rise and aspire to heaven's gate.

And the butterfly, though in a shroud, he must

In dim surmise, For all things shall rise. Gently kind spring has awakened the flowers-Swiftly the grub on the wing, with new powers.
To happiness fies.
Ever with refluent wave and strong motion.
Landward now march the forces of ocean.
Grand anguries!
For all things do rise.

In the world visible lurks the invisible,
Making men wise,
Telling of blessed truths plainly perceptible
To lovelit eyes;
Telling of heaven and the happy tomorrow;
Telling of joy with no vestige of sorrow
And of bright skies,
Where love never dies.
—C. P. Wilson in New York Sun.

HALF A MILLION.

I had been in the dry goods business ten years or more and had drudged all that while, winter and summer, without a holiday, except Christmas and New Year's day and the Fourth of July, when one summer, calculating my profits, I made up my mind that I could afford to enjoy myself for once as other people did—cut the shop outright for a while and spend a week or so in the country. Trade was dull, and I was dull too. So as Dobbins' aunt—Dobbins is my head clerk—had a house at Shadyalope and took a boarder or two and was anxious to fill her unoccupied rooms that summer, I gave my name to Dob-bins to fill up the list and ran down there with my trunk and bag about the 1st of July.

I felt that it was an honor to Dob bins' aunt as well as to Dobbins, but I made up my mind to be affable and not to make them more uncomfortable than I could. No matter what your position in life, it is very wrong to put on airs, and I never do it.

"Tell them not to put themselves out on my account," I said to Dobbins "but to treat me just as they do the other boarders," and Dobbius said he would. "Puff of Puff & Co.," I said when I met the aunt. "Don't disturb yourself on my account. I am quite simple in my habits."

She said she wouldn't, though I could see it was not every day that the head of a firm came to Shadyslope. They had three or four other people there, a few who taught music and composed some, you know, and an artist and a doctor and a few who wrote novels, but nobody of any importance.

When I sat down to the table that right, I put them all at ease at once. "I distinctly desire it to be under-stood that I don't want to disturb any one," I said. "Go on just as you hav been doing. I want relaxation, and it will amuse me. Simple pleasures are very charming when one is weary with application to more important matters."

Then I bowed. But you can't expect everything of people not up to the mark. Two or three laughed—why I don't

It was very pleasant there-particu larly pleasant. My landlady had daughter, quite a charming creature, with eyes like bluebells and a voice like a canary. She used to sing a good deal with the music man. The moment that girl looked at me she appreciated me.

Before the day was over she was des perately in love with me, and when reature like that gives you her heart, low can you look coldly on her?

Far be it from me to win the affections of an innocent girl, knowing as I do that I have a position in the world of the fact, but knowing what emotions I had awakened in her bosom I felt obliged to be kind to her. We walke together. We rode, we sung. I felt that it was wrong, but my feelings carried me away. I often thought to myself, "If that girl's father had been in the whole-sale line and had left her well off, what a bliss would have been mine!" was nothing but a lawyer and had scarcely left a penny. Excelsior is my motto. Large retail should always asmotto. Large retail should always as-pire to a connection with wholesale. And Miss Briggs of Briggs & Bounce smiles very sweetly when she bows to your humble servant.

Alas, who shall control the heart's ffections? Evelina's beauty and her de votion touched my soul too deeply. On the 1st of September, when trade was growing brisk, I began to feel that it was better for the peace of both our hearts that I should fly. I should forget the dream in a little while. But she, poor child, I feared that she would never forget me.

"Adieu," I said as I shook hands with her. "Perhaps we shall never meet again.

She turned her face away from me

Her emotions overcame her. And I took the next train for the city.

I entered again into the turmoil of trade. It was brisk. But nothing could make me happy. I accused myself of trifling with the affections of an angel. She loved me, I thought, and I have broken her heart—I who secretly adore

I lost my appetite. I grew thin. When I saw fair creatures of her age bending over the counter, my mind flew back to daughter smiled upon me, I thought how plain she was and how adorably cautiful was Evelina. At last—it was in [October—my head clerk claimed a holiday. "I shall spend it with my aunt and Evelina," he said.

"A beautiful girl," said L
"Yes," said he, blushing at the cor pliment to the family, I presume. "The loveliest girl I ever knew, and a lucky "Lucky?" said I.

"Yes," said a. "In a year from this time she will be a very rich woman. Old grandfather left her everything. come of age or marry, and he was worth

"Half a million!" I cried. My head clerk nodded.
"Visit your aunt and consin when on will," I said, "and don't return until you feel quite rested. You never mentioned to me before, Dobbins, that your grandfather left $500,000."

"You see it wasn't left to me," he said and went off. said and went off.

"Half a million! Miss Briggs was not worth that. A wholesale business was the thing to be connected with, of course, but when the heart is touched we are willing to sacrifice all else. I will fix to your side, Evelina," I soliloquized. "I will recompense you for your hours of grief by telling you how I adore you! I pictured the scene to myself. I saw her as she confessed her love and fainted in my arms, and that evening I ran down to Shadyslope to offer my heart and hand to Evelina.

I arrived after dark. The house wa very quiet, and as I advanced I reflected that my sudden appearance might agi-tate Evelina too terribly. I must an nounce myself cantiously. I stole forward on tiptoe to reconnoite

Two forms were seated on the porch a faint gleam of moonlight revealed them to me—a lady with her cheek reposing upon a gentleman's shoulder, his arm about her waist. They were my head clerk, Tom, and his Cousing Evelina. I stood as one petrified. They were talking of me.
'He really thought I was smitten

Tom," said Evelina. "He flirted with me terribly. "Did he dare" - began Tom. "Didn't

"Of course I did not tell him I was engaged to you," said Evelina. "Why, Tom, you couldn't be jealous of such a fellow—a man with no idea beyond his Then Tom kissed her. I waited for no more. Fortunately I caught the down train. At 12 o'clock I was in the city. At the depot I met Simpkins about to start for Albany.

"Simpkins," I said, "I've heard you speak of a troublesome nephew you de sired to provide for." "Confound him, yes," said Simpkins. "My head clerk's place is vacant,"

"Tell him to come to me." "Thank you," said Simpkins.
I waited for no thanks. I strode away and wrote Dobbins that his services were no longer required.

I have been married a year to Miss Briggs, and her father failed five months ago. Simpkins has just been arrested for embezzling sundry sums of money, and yesterday I passed Tom Dobbins and his wife in the street. She is excessively pretty-lovelier than everand I feel quite sure, despite all that I overheard, that her heart is still mine in secret. Of course she could not admit it, not knowing I returned the sentiment. But when I remember how much we were together I feel sure it must be so, and that two hearts were broken. Quite a romantic story mine. Don't you think so?-Exchange.

A Prison Designed by a Convict.

Perhaps the most interesting fact about the building of Wormwood Scrubs prison is that the plans for its construc tion were drawn out by a convict in his cell while undergoing the probationary nine months to a long term of imprison-

The man was originally an architect and among the foremost of his profes sion. He was a gentleman by birth and education, but in early life began to abuse his natural gifts, and at the time was undergoing his second term of imprisonment for forgery. The completion of the work occupied him for nearly six nonths and was effected under great disadvantages. In place of a table, for instance, he had to pin his paper to the wall of his cell, moving it round with the sun in order to obtain the best light.

The prison authorities consider this marvelous specimen of architectural drawing the finest piece of work ever done by an English convict. It measures in size 5 feet 6 inches, being drawn to the scale of a hundredth part of an inch The convict displayed the greatest in pletion of the prison, which was built entirely by convict labor. It contains 1,381 separate cells for prisoners, which cost on an average £70 7s. each, besides hospital wards and a chapel. vas 35,000,000, each one being made by the convicts on the premises, or or ome adjoining land leased for the pur The iron castings were obtained pose. The iron castings were obtained from Portland or Chatham prison, the granite from Dartmoor and the Portland stone from Portland. The total cost of the prison was more than £97,000 .-London Letter.

The Philadelphia Record tells of sch olteacher who was instructing a class of boys in geography. Everything went well until, in order to make the matter plainer, she took an ordinary globe and, pointing to the portion con taining the United States, asked class where she would come out if she should start from Philadelphia and go straight through the earth. She knew they would all say China, but she wanted to see which of her scholars would answer first. She waited fully minute and no answer came. Away back in the room a grimy hand was finally held up. "Well, David," she asked, where would I come out if I should go straight though the earth from here? The silence was growing thicker every second. "Please, Miss Mande, you would come out of the hole," was the reply, and the class in geography was dismissed for the day.

Many coral reef islands in the Pacific are in the form of more or less perfect rings, or ovals, inclosing lagoons. Recently a description was presented to the Royal Geographical society of the ring island of Ninafou, halfway between Fiji and Samoa, which is not a coral reef but a volcanie ring inclosing crater containing a lake two miles in diameter. Toward the sea the ring bordered with walls of black lava, and on the inner side these break down in cliffs 200 to 300 feet in height. An eruption in 1886 formed a peninsula on the eastern side of the lake. While the ocean outside is trembling and thunder ing under a heavy wind the lake re mains smooth or is simply wrinkled with ripples. —Youth's Companion.

Youthful Discernment.

Johnny was trying to describe to his nother the lady whom he had met at "Was she old or young?" asked John ay's mampia. "Well," said the astute youth, "I think if she's married she'd better be called middle aged. "-New York Jour-

A Deckled Novelty. "Have you seen the latest novelty in he new hats? "No; what is it?"

"Brains "—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Men are so constituted that everybody dertakes what he sees another su cessful in, whether he has aptitude for it or not.—Goethe.

Highest of all in Leavening Power .- Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

| Baking ABSOLUTELY PURE

A HALF WITTED HERO

"Talking of remarkable escapes," re-marked the drummer, "I think I know very few to beat that of which the hero was poor, half witted Bill Smith, whom I was poor, half witted Bill Smith, whom I met at an appailing mining disaster in Scotland 10 or 12 years ago. At that time I was doing my yearly round of the manufacturing towns in England to get a line on the newest thing in carpets and ran north to Glasgow to visit some friends. The district for miles around is fairly honeycombed with coal mines. One forenoon the startling information reached the city the startling information reached the city that there had been an explosion in one of the pits at Blantyre, a village seven or eight miles away, and curiosity drew me thither I don't believe I'll ever forget the awful spectacle. Over 200 men were entombed, great volumes of smoke shot up through the pit mouth, and the wives and mothers stood by as near as they dared, weeping and wringing their hands for the decreased near helicity.

Rescue parties were quickly made up "Rescue parties were quickly made up-but they were driven back repeatedly by the blinding, choking fames that belched from the pit mouth. The cries of the women were heartrending as they entreat-ed the rescue party to go down. As quickly as human hands and human hearts could do it a fan was placed in position and the cage lowered over the deadly shaft. Still the men, inured as they were to dan-ger, shrank back. Billy Smith pushed his way through them. He was a big, strong. ger, shrank back. Billy Smith pushed his way through them. He was a big, strong-lanky fellow, sluggishly good natured and known in the village as the man who didn't know much. He had wandered into the village half a dozen years before, with a dirty, limping cur at his heels. When he was asked his name, he said it was only Billy—nothing more. So they stuck Smith to the Billy because it was easy and rigged him out with a fall name. easy and rigged him out with a full name 'Haud the pup,' he said quietly, 'and let me gae doon.' An elderly wom-an who had three sons in the pit blessed bim with the tears streaming down her cheeks, while the men stood back ahashed and half ashamed. Billy was lowered quickly, and in a few moments—it seemed like an eternity to the wailing women above—he signaled for the cage to be brought up. It carried three men and a boy, blackened, choking, but unhurt.

brought up it carries but unhurt.

"A few of the rescue party went down with the cage again, for the shaft was clearer now, and more of the entumbed miners were quickly sent to the top. Then the borrors of the scene began to present themselves. There had been a great upheaval in the mines by the force of the explosion and the passages were hopelessly choked up with tons of fallen coal and de bris More men went to the rescue. They dug their picks into the awful wall in front of them, urged on by the energy of despair. Night fell, but still the monotomine, which even now was the tomb many a strong man struck down in his prime Presently a sort of opening was made into the stubborn wall of coal which blocked up the way and a man's arm pro-truded. The victim was quickly dug out and conveyed to the pit mouth. He was beyond all human help. He was not badly mangled; he had simply been choked to death by the fire damp. His widow had hovered all the day near the pit and in the blackness of the night the flickering lights of the lamps shed feverishly on her wan face. They had been married only a month her husband's dinner when the roar of the explosion reached her ears. The dead man was tenderly laid at her feet. She flung herself on the body, kissed the poor black-ened face and patted the limp, lifeless

John! For God's sake speak to me!"
"As the rescuers in the minedug farther into the opening they had made the deadly into the opening they had made the deadly fire damp rushed through and drove them back. The fatal fumes pursued them, and they hurriedly gave the signal to be drawn up till the pit could be cleared of the foul sir. Only half witted Billy Smith re-matted. You see he did not know much. He flung himself on the damp ground and lay there for hours, helpless and half

"By and by his dull intelligence told Hy and by his dull intelligence told him of the burled miners in their living tomb beyond. He took up a pick and dug, dug, dug, slowly at first, but some God given feeling within him prompted him to persistently work. For seven hours he dug on till the ring of his pick. reached the entombed men. Sweeter mu-sic never struck mortal ears. They too, selzed their picks and dug through the black wall to meet their rescuer. Sud-denly it fell through, and a hole was left large enough for a man's body to pass through. Day was breaking at the pit mouth when the wery, wretched watchers there were startled to receive a signal fo came up presently with a grewsome col-lection of limbs that had been torn of dead bodies and living men. "The work of rescue now went bravely on, and the awful extent of the calamity on, and the awful extent of the calamity was soon discovered. A dozen or so more miners were dug out alive, and as each pitload reached the mouth the rescued miners were seized by their friends and hurried off to the village public house.

Soon the sounds of revelry swept down to the nit mouth. Soon the sounds of revelry swept down to the pit mouth, where wornout, broken hearted women stood waiting for their dead and strong men sobbed for their boys. The dead miners were drawn up the shaft in a pitiable state. Some had had their arms or legs torn off, others had lost their heads, while more had their faces so black-ened that the scorched skin peeled off at a

"Suddenly somebody in the crowd cried, Where's Billy Smith? Nobody knew, and two good natured miners volunteered to go down the shaft to see if he had been hurt in the mine. They searched per functorily enough, for they did not sup pose that he had been left behind. But a faint moan reached their cars from among the debris, which had fallen near the hole had been heathered in for the rescue of the debris, which had fallen near the hole that had been battered in for the rescue of the entombed miners. They cleared the rubbish away quickly and pulled out a man. Yes, it was Billy. He had dug his own grave. He was hauled to the top and laid down. Brandy was poured down his throat, and by and by he opened his eyes. Whaur's my dog? he faintly choked out. Somebody brought the cur to him and laid it in his arms. He hugged it closely, and then, with a smile on his blackened. then, with a smile on his blackened scorched face, he quietly died. Billy wa a man who did not know very much, you see. He simply knew enough to die pthers."—Exchange.

She—I have heard that you said I wa fond of the sound of my own voice. He—Well, you have yourself admitte that you like music.—London Tit-Bits.

A Simple Method.

"I'd give anything in the world to get id of that dog."
"Is that sof Well, try putting a $50 col-ir on him."—Chicago Record.

ADDITIONAL CALUMET NEWS

MUST

Johnson, the Engraver, Aguitz block. Good family wood at J. Vivian. Jr., & Co.; $4 a cord.

For l'edro score cards and markers, go to the News office

FOR SALE-Lot located on Main street, Laurium. Apply at News office or ad dress, E. L. M., care of News.

Smokers, if you have tailed to find a nigar to suit you, try "Heimlich's Crown," the best in the market. One swallow does not make spring, but

ne swallow of One Minute Cough Cury brings relief. EAGLE DRUS STORE. Our lodge room can be rented neetings on Saturday evenings. Sivent Olson.

An Estey piano $175; first-class strument; bring $25 and take it.

OATES, Auctioneer Go to the City Bakery! r your fine pas ries. Angel food, fruit cake always on hand. Cream puffs Fridays and Saturdays.

Heed Potatoes.

A few bushel of choice seed potatoes for sale. Apply to John M. Messner, Pine street.

To LET-The store, and room behind.

opposite Ryan's store, at present occupied by Richard James. Apply to Alex Macdonald, on the premises. Insist on getting a "La Empres

10-cent cigar. All first-class dealers sell them, try 'em, like 'em. Equal to im-Eczema is a frightful affliction, but like all other skin diseases, it can be permanently cured by applications of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It never fails to cure

The Rockford electric belt is meeting with the best of success. Call and examine it and get references. Office over Grand Union tea store Red Jacket, Mich. RUSSEL & BURNS Mrs. R. DeYoung, Middleburg, Iowa, writes: "I have used One Minute Cough Cure for six years, both for myself and children, and I consider it the quickest acting and most satisfactory Cough Cure I have ever used." EAGLE DRUG STORE.

V. Arvonen, gold and silver smith and engraver, late of Tiffany & Co., New York, has opened a store next door to Jacob Gartner's, on Fifth street, where he is prepared to do hand-made work and repairing with neatness and dispatch. Prices reasonable.

A. L. Wooster, a prominent citizen of Osseo, Mich., after suffering excruciatingly from piles for twenty years, was cured in a short time by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, an absolute cure for all skin diseases. More of this preparation is used than all others combined.

EAGLE DRUG STORE.

The bread and cake of the Superio. Bakery can be had at the following agen cles: James Lisa's, Mrs. Hoskin's, Red Jacket: Martin Kuhn's, J. C. Lean's Peter Olcem's, Calumet Village, and Weisenauer's, Guilbaul's, Lake Linden. A tresh supply is left at these agencies every day, and the prices are as low as the lowest

Bucklen's Arnica Salve. The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price, 25 cents per box. For sale by D. T. Macdonald.

Young mothers dread the summer months on account of the great mortality among children caused by bowel troubles. Perfect safety may be assured those who keep on hand DeWitt's Colic and & Cholera cure, and administer it prompty. For cramps, bilious colic, dysentery and diarrhea, it affords instant relief. EAGLE DRUG STORE.

Mr. James Glanville, having bought out the City dye works of George Eade, will have the same establishment in connection with that of his former bus iness, enlarging pictures in crayon and water colors, etc., and desires to inform the public he is in a position to attend to all work that may be given to him in his line, and guarantees to give his patrons satisfaction.

Mutual Fire insurance company of Houghton and Keweenaw countries, or ganized in 1890 according to the laws of the State of Michigan, will insure property of its mem ers. Have paid fire los over $3,000 during its existence. The company paid back during the last year to sixty-two of its members of hve years' standing 68 per cent of their premiums, amounting to $3,502. Will pay back during this year on the same rate to thirty-six members of five years' standing $1,447. On the first day of this year the company had 344 members, $297,440 worth of property insured, and $6,594. 11 in treasury. For further par-ticulars apply to the undersigned.

John BLOMQVIST, Presid